NEED FOR THOROUGHBRED

TROTTING AUTHORITY GIVES BREED CREDIT FOR GREAT USEFULNESS.

Concedes That Breeders of the Thoroughbred Have Done Much to Improve the Equine Race and That Racing Is Necessary to Perpetuate.

Ordinarily the editors of publications devoted to trotting are not favorably disposed towards the thoroughbred horse. Andrew G. Leonard, a distinguished authority on the trotter and editor of the Trotting Record, seems to be an exception, for he writes in the following refreshing strain:

"Breeders of thoroughbreds and all who are interested in the sport of racing this type of horse are jubilant over the recent decision of the Appellate division of the Supreme Court in New York that oral betting was not unlawful, and well they may be, for this ruling is the first ray of sunshine that has been seen since the passage of the Hart-Agnew bill, a law which struck a death blow to the great sport and crippled an extensive industry. There is now every probability that the decision of the lower court will be confirmed, in which event Belmont Park, Saratoga and possibly one or two other race courses will again be opened to the public and once more will be heard the hoof beats of the thoroughbred and again the breeding industry of the blood horse will be continued on an extensive scale.

"The admirers of the light harness horse, while they are not vitally interested in the prospect of racing again being a fixture over the Jockey Club tracks, will, if they have a spark of sportsmanship, rejoice that the many breeders of thoroughbreds throughout the country are to again find encouragement in the production of this superb type of horse, and that thousands of men and women who sincerely admire the thoroughbred and enjoy witnessing a contest between fields of courageous, fleet and good looking steeds, can again gratify their tastes in this direction. Whatever may be said of the evils that in the past infested the sport of racing the thoroughbred, the fact remains that as a sport it has a firm place in the affections of the American people and that the thoroughbred as a type is more nearly perfect than any other breed.

"The passage of the Hart-Agnew bill was a great misfortune, not only because it brought disaster to many well meaning men, deprived thousands of an honest livelihood, prohibited many more thousands from enjoying their favorite pastime, and curtailed the production of a type of horse that is greatly needed in improving other breeds, and at this time is absolutely essential for the needs of the Government, but because it aimed at the liberties of the citizens of this republic, not because it prohibited betting, but on account of the fact that it made officials of race courses directly liable for any violation of the law that might take place on the property of the associations over which they presided. Under the wording of this law the president of an association could be held personally liable if an order bet were made beyond the limit of $100, or of a hat or a sum of money no matter how small, on any proposition whatsoever from the race itself to future weather conditions. The directors of the associations comprising the Jockey Club had no desire to evade the law nor were they willing to subject themselves to the indignity and inconvenience of being held liable for the slightest infraction of the statute, and as a consequence the Jockey Club tracks were closed, racing was abandoned in the east and the breeders of this country lost millions of dollars through the destruction of their most important market.

"Everyone in the least familiar with the conditions that prevailed knows full well that racing the thoroughbred in this country has always suffered at the hands of selfish men, and it would have been the part of wisdom had these menaces to the sport been banished many years ago. It should also be remembered however, that racing the thoroughbred gave pleasure and afforded a means of recreation to thousands of law-abiding citizens who keenly enjoyed witnessing a sport that has few equals. The breeders of thoroughbreds in this country have been engaged in a legitimate pursuit and anything that deprives them of a ready market for their products is contrary to the principles of our form of government. It has been said, and with some degree of truth, that betting on horse races has been injurious to the public, but it is not the betting, it is the temptation to the youth of this country, has done much to breed crime, yet the passage of the Hart-Agnew bill did little to reform the morals of the world, for while it eliminated betting on race courses, it by no means destroyed other forms of gambling which instantly took the place of that which the framers of this law were pleased to consider an iniquity. This act of the New York Legislature went too far in attacking the personal liberties of many citizens of this country, and as it has not stood the test of a trial in court, it must be considered unjust, and also because it implied that oral betting was a crime but because it placed the responsibility of an overt act where it did not belong.

"Breeders of the thoroughbred have done much to improve the equine race. They have in this country, and in England, for over a century and a half, aimed at the production of a type of horse possessing speed, courage, endurance and soundness, and while such a type is more useful for racing purposes than for any other it is invaluable for every purpose in which riding is the prime object. Hundreds of thousands of men, women and children find health and recreation in riding, and no blood is to be found that so nearly meets all requirements for this purpose as that of the thoroughbred. The United States Government is at this time sorely in need of remounts both for the cavalry and for the mounted infantry, and it is the opinion of those best qualified to judge that thoroughbred blood in certain quantities is absolutely essential in the production of cavalry remounts. In Russia, Austria, Italy, France and England the cavalry is well mounted and invincible, these countries use a strong infusion of thoroughbred blood in breeding horses for government purposes. It is not a question of comparison between thoroughbred and the other breeds for each has its uses, yet it is a known fact that without the thoroughbred any country will find it impossible to produce a type of horse suitable for the army.

"Racing is the backbone of the thoroughbred industry, for without it there is no incentive for breeders to produce this type of horse. Racing elevates the standard of excellence, it separates the wheat from the chaff, and it furnishes an incentive to produce a type of horse possessing soundness, individual excellence, strength, constitution and speed. Without racing, the thoroughbred horse of this country would deteriorate into an absolutely useless animal, and eventually would be eliminated, and the result of this would be a deterioration of every breed intended for saddle purposes. Racing when properly conducted is a legitimate sport and while much may be said by way of criticism of the methods pursued in the past by those in charge of it, fully as much can be said in all justice of the sportsmanship that has been evinced by the best representatives of its followers. Managers of trotting meetings can study with good effect the discipline that prevails on a

THIRTY LEADING MONEY-WINNING HORSES OF 1913

Through displays of exceptional speed the Texas-bred filly, Pan Zareta, stands first in the list of money-winning horses of 1913, with the record of five firsts and one second in six starts, and is a worthy descendant of that grand line which, beginning with Glencoe, comes down to her through Vandal, Virgil, Hindoo, Hanover and Abe Frank. Succeeding her in order of winnings are the four-year-old Republican, six-year-old John Furlong, five-year-old Cough Hill, six-year-old Carlton G. and seven-year-old Donald Macdonald, the six horses before all that have been able to win $2,000 or more so far. With $1,800 to his credit, Gordon is not far away from that $2,000 mark and leads the two-year-olds in money won. Please Welles and Little Bit are the only other two-year-olds which have won enough to gain them inclusion in the following list of thirty best winners of the year:

ONE OF ARGENTINA'S FAMOUS STUDS.

"The Special Commission" of London Sportsman has for some years past announced that a winter sea voyage to Buenos Ayres and back and is now on the high seas on his return to England. On this latest trip he paid a visit to Senor Unzué's San Jacinto stock farm, where the great French horse Val d'Or is the principal stallion. Of what he saw there he wrote the following:

"This visit on the Wednesday necessitated starting by a six a. m. train and a journey of some three hours; but it was easily done, and at San Jacinto station we found Senor Unzué himself to meet us, with his private omnibus and a very useful team of four horses. With a mounted man to open gates we soon reached our destination and found that invaluable stud manager, J. Horan, still fit and well. He has now about seventy broodmares under his charge, and the four stallions are Val d'Or, Pimperint and his brother, Pimental, both grays, and the truly magnificent Whirlpool, by Yorkshire, out of Weir. There is also the beautiful blood pony stallion, Mountain Ash, bred out of Cecropia, but his services are practically reserved for a mob of 'odd-colored' mares, from many of which he ought to sire polo ponies. I had never seen Val d'Or looking better, and it is a notable fact that, differing from the rest of the Doncaster line, he has done better and better each year at the stud. I had never seen Pimperint before and was much impressed with him. It is seldom that one sees a gray horse with such range and scope, and as to his racing quality that also beyond all question though the latter part of his career was wasted in South Africa, and it is only within the last three years that he has been given a fair chance at the stud. Pimental is also a fine horse, and was a good one. Their breeding is of interest, for they are by St. Mirin, out of Hermit, and trace through the dam, to Strathefer, a first-rate No. 14 line. There are some capital yearlings by Pimperint, notably a clean, shapely bay filly out of Splendid, by Labrador out of Ornament, and two first-rate gray colts, each out of a Flying Fox mare. It goes without saying that the Val d'Ors show any amount of promise, a bay colt out of Marcellaise being of such commanding merit that Senor Unzué is half inclined to keep him as a successor to his sire. Whirlpool, too, has begun well, and there are two fine chestnut fillies by him out of St. Mirin.

"It would serve no useful purpose here to go into full details about these yearlings, as my readers may never see any of them, but I may say that they would certainly hold their own in the best company anywhere. One of the yearlings, a bay, is admirably reared and handled. A fair proportion of maize is used for feeding bloodstock in the Argentine, but the home-grown oats are not bad, though a lightish sample. Good oats are now being imported from New Zealand, and they are preferred to English ones. I am sure that the Val d'Ors from England has a prejudicial effect, no matter how good the oats may be when shipped.

"Senor Unzué's mares are with scarcely an exception bred in the purple and they include daughters of Flying Fox, William the Third, Ajax, Pona Vista, Mecton and Desmond, and the Splendid dam, referred to, and several daughters of St. Mirin, which was the most successful stallion of all Hermit's sons. Senor Unzué has a great fancy for Pepper and Salt blood, and two of his mares are out of Sweet Hilda, one by William III., and the other by Galahad. The Desmond mare is out of the beautifully-bred Martagonia, by Martagon out of Arcadia (dam of Cyrene), and what pedigree could be better than that of Felicia, by Winkfield's Price, her dam by St. Simon out of Happy Hampton? Modern Maid is another imported mare full of fashion, for she is a sister to Orchid, by Orme out of Musley Maid (sister to L'Abbesse de Jouarre). The foals by Val d'Or are particularly good, and I specially like the colt and filly for which the two St. Hilda mares are responsible. There is also a fine filly by the same sire out of Splendid, and Pimperint has a smashing good filly out of Carmel, by Fortunio. I only wish to give an impression of this well-appointed and well-managed stud, where nothing but the best stock that money can buy is good enough for the owner, who has practically limitless quantities of land on which to do everything that he breeds the fullest justice. How many leagues of land Senor Unzué owns at San Jacinto and elsewhere I do not pretend to know, but they cover an area which to us would seem almost fabulous, and his flocks and herds are practically innumerable.

"Senor Unzué—as his father before him—is a great cattle breeder, and he has implicit belief in the necessity of importing bulls from England. At present he is anxious for the time to come when the present restrictions on such trade will be removed, for he wants some more English-bred short-horn bulls, and not a few of them, but it will be quite useless to offer him any that are not in the very first class. I had a brief look through the bull house at San Jacinto and saw some superb young ones that are sure winners at forthcoming shows. It is difficult with our limited ideas of farming in England to even imagine the magnitude of these Argentine operations. Thus Senor Unzué himself sells no fewer than 500 bulls annually and expects next year to sell 1,000. In last year's drought he lost no fewer than 10,000 head of cattle and appears to think such a loss of no great consequence.

"Among his many houses he can have none more comfortable than the one at San Jacinto, where Senor Unzué received us to breakfast and spoke English perfectly. Altogether we spent a delightful morning, and I was very sorry when the time came for us to drive away again to catch the return train to Buenos Ayres. I should add, before closing this subject, that Senor Unzué, who is well-known on the English turf and has a stud in France, is not without hope of some day winning our Derby, and to this end he breeds a foal or two to English time. Of course it is long odds against anybody breeding a Derby winner, but so far as good stallions and broodmares can contribute to that crowning triumph nothing is wanting at San Jacinto."

NOTES OF THE TURF FROM ABROAD.

R. Wootton, the Trendwell House trainer, arrived home at Epsom March 13, from Australia.

C. Ward, the jockey, who rode Rockdove in the Cesarewitch of 1897, died at Newmarket on Thursday night, March 14.

Lord Derby's Grand National candidate Axle Pin has resumed walking and trotting exercise, but all hope of being able to start him in the big race has been abandoned.

C. Longhurst, the jockey attached to the stable of A. Sadler, Jr., at Newmarket, who has been riding with success in South Africa since the close of the last racing season, has returned home and is to have the mount on Le Touquet in the Lincolnshire Handicap.

Thowl Pin gave an inglorious display in the Grand National Trial Steeplechase, toiling hopelessly in the rear when two miles of the journey had been covered. He tumbled over his fences, and it would now appear that his chance of winning the "National" is a very remote one indeed.

Reginald Griggs, brother to Walter and William Griggs, the well-known jockeys, was out riding a horse at Newmarket March 14 when it got out of control and bolted into the railings flanking the old Cambridgeshire course, and threw its rider heavily. Young Griggs was pinned under the railings, and his state, and was taken to the Rous Memorial Hospital.

At Cheltenham, England, March 12, the quite extraordinary number of thirty horses started in the $5,000 National Hunt Steeplechase at four miles. Of the thirty only eleven withstood the perils of the course and finished, the other falling or running out. The winners were: Maudslayi second, and Fallen Crown third, each carrying 171 pounds.

The jockeys, T. Hulme and E. Piggett, who sustained injuries whilst riding at Hurst Park recently, are both progressing satisfactorily. The latter has had his injured forearm put under the X-rays, and it has been ascertained that the two bones in the left hand have been broken. It is anticipated, however, that with good progress Piggett will be able to ride in the Liverpool Grand National.

A certain well-known sportsman, being desirous of becoming the owner of Balcadden, made inquiries with that object in view, but was informed that $50,000 would be the price asked for him. Balcadden's next outing will, it is stated on authority, be in the Liverpool Spring Cup, though it was reported that a box has been engaged for him at Hurst Park, where he is engaged in the Open Steeplechase.

J. R. Joel's fast horse Spanish Prince has been seized with an attack of coughing, leading to fear that the stable may again be infected as it was last year, when coughing put a number of its stars out of any chance of racing. At latest advices only Spanish Prince was affected. Fit and well at the post, he would have been one of the Lincolnshire Handicap favorites, but it is now doubtful if he can recover in time to be a starter.

TORONTO MINOR TRACK DATES.

Toronto, Ont., March 26.—Joseph Moat, secretary of the Metropolitan Racing Association, and also of the Toronto Driving Club, under whose auspices meetings for thoroughbred horses are given over the half-mile tracks at Dufferin Park and Hillcrest, has announced the following schedule of dates for this season's racing at the two courses named:

Dufferin Park, first meeting, August 4 to August 11; seven days.

Hillcrest Park, first meeting, August 20 to August 27; seven days.

Dufferin Park, second meeting, September 6 to September 13; seven days.

Hillcrest Park, second meeting, September 30 to October 7; seven days.

WILL INSPECT PARI-MUTUELS ABROAD.

Louisville, Ky., March 26.—Col. Maft J. Winn, general manager of the New Louisville Jockey Club, and Charles E. Price, presiding steward, will leave in a few days for Europe to be gone about three weeks. They will make a special study of the operation of the pari-mutuels on European tracks. The Churchill Downs management has spent $22,000 for a new lot of pari-mutuel machines which carry several later patents than the old ones. There will be thirty machines instead of twenty.

PROVIDING FOR JUMPERS

STEEPLECHASE COURSE UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT HAVRE DE GRACE.

Will Be Completed in Season for Next Month's Racing at Maryland Track, Between Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Havre de Grace, Md., March 26.—Robert A. Tucker, superintendent of the Harford County Agriculture and Breeders' Association track, has arrived here from New York, and will prepare the track for the spring meeting and oversee the construction of the steeplechase course, races over which will form an attractive feature of the coming season. Additional stabling will be built to accommodate several hundred horses. Horses have already begun to arrive, including the K. F. Carman string from Juarez, Mexico.

The Harford County Racing Commission has not yet decided whether they will require the association to use the pari-mutuel system of betting. It is claimed by the track owners that they have not had time to secure the machines, and in view of this fact it is almost certain the commission will relent and allow this meeting to go on with bookmakers. It is certain, however, that the machines must be used at all future meetings in this county.

HOW ALDERMAN CHICCO GOT HIS NAME.

When, one day recently, a horse named Alderman Chicco, by Senator McArren—Catherine R., won the lucrative price of 6 to 1, an episode which will go down in turf annals as one of the most amusing on a race track occurred. The horse when started was a four-year-old, a maiden, that had never previously won a race, and he was the better horse when he had been a buggy horse for a distant relative of "Big Tim" Sullivan, to whom the Tammany politician had given him when he broke down as a yearling. Word reached Archie Zimmer that this trader, then unnamed, was going good again, and he obtained the unknown horse for a small sum.

From time to time astonishing reports came from the clockers and work watchers of a mysterious equine in Zimmer's barn. This one had outworked the great Cough Hill at three-quarters of a mile, and had beaten as the records showed no performer in the Zimmer establishment that could approach this except Ancon, the latter was given credit for the performance.

On the occasion of his first start Ancon was nearly backed off the boards on the strength of the work watchers' tip that he was the better horse when hooked up in the morning with Cough Hill. Ancon was beaten off and the mystery remained as much of a mystery as ever. The resourceful Zimmer, who never has been known to be second best when the dollar is concerned, decided at last to christen the horse, and under the Jockey Club's rules required to deposit a forfeit fee of $50 for naming the animal after he was two years old.

Alderman Lorenzo Chicco, a Charleston politician of Italian extraction and sportive predilection, attracted Archie as a likely godfather for the horse. Would he stand sponsor for the name? Indeed, he would, declared the alderman, as he banged his big fist on the mahogany panel of his cafe's principal fixture, and here was $300 which Archie must accept, and when he was finally sent for the purse he towed up his field, winning a big wager for Zimmer. Would he stand sponsor for the name? Indeed, he would, declared the alderman, as he banged his big fist on the mahogany panel of his cafe's principal fixture, and here was $300 which Archie must accept, and when he was finally sent for the purse he towed up his field, winning a big wager for Zimmer.

Since then Alderman Chicco has developed into a bleeder, and it is likely that he will be of little further use on the track. There have been many first-starting four-year-old maidens on the American turf, but few that furnished the thrills to a winner like Alderman Chicco. He is a real character, and his performances had the railbirds by the ears.

Zimmer's taciturnity is a matter of public renown in matters where the unveiling of his stable secrets are concerned. When, therefore, the horse was entered, and he was gravely assured everyone that he would win the local turf colony was prone to give a deaf ear to his assurances. Alderman Chicco was entered and scratched with painful persistency, and when he was finally sent for the purse he towed up his field, winning a big wager for Zimmer. The real alderman, and Larry Mulligan, proprietor of the Hotel St. Denis in New York, in whose colors he raced. All those who had good-humoredly laughed Zimmer about the horse had regrets for not having backed him.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The Duke of Devonshire, never an enthusiast but of the line of men foremost in English racing, has decided to retire from the turf. He had little success as an owner.

The horses of J. F. Newman & Son have arrived at Lexington from Juarez, Pan Zareta, the leading money-winning racer of the Juarez meeting, is the star of the stable, all the members of which arrived in good condition.

The two-year-old brother to Judge Monck, a bay colt by Ben Brush—Early and Often, for which George W. Jones paid $1,000 last fall, is dead. It was mysteriously shot while in the paddock at the Innes Farm, near Lexington, Ky.

Rev. W. D. Bradfield of Austin, Tex., a Methodist minister, is in the forefront of the preachers' campaign which has been begun against the bill to legalize the pari-mutuel method of betting on races in Texas. The bill was introduced by Representative McKamy, also a Methodist and a candidate for speaker of the house, who says he means to push the bill to the best of his ability.

BILL NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY.

Albany, N. Y., March 26.—A hearing was given this afternoon before the Assembly Codes Committee on the bill introduced by Assemblyman Knight, which is designed to prohibit persons who, with or without exchange of money or property, from participating in pool-selling, with or without writing, or in any other kind of gambling, or one who, as a bettor or the taker of a bet, directly or indirectly, records a bet or wager. The promoters of this legislation have endeavored without success to have this bill introduced in the Senate. In view of the fact that the courts have already decided that oral betting is not illegal, the members of the Legislature are not inclined to take the bill at all seriously.

HAWTHORN WORKS A GOOD MILE.

Louisville, Ky., March 26.—Hawthorn's work does not indicate that there is anything the matter with him and it is supposed that the reports circulated in other cities to the effect that he is lame arise from a desire to see the odds against his Kentucky Derby chances lengthen. A day or two ago Hawthorn worked a mile in 1:43. He went the quarter in :24, the half in :49, and three-quarters in 1:16. Hawthorn looks good and he is good. He is always anxious to run. His trainer, W. S. Trevey, is confident that he will win the Derby at the Downs on May 10 and that he will make a new time record for the race.

The American Racing Manual

for 1913

An Excellent and Low-Priced Book of 460 Pages

It holds information for people interested in racing contained in no other publication. It is simply a mine of records

ONE OF THE NEW FEATURES OF THIS PUBLICATION IS A TABULATED COMPILATION SHOWING THE winners, values, times and other particulars of the great races of the world, from their institution, including the Epsom Derby, Epsom Oaks, St. Leger, Two Thousand Guineas, One Thousand Guineas, Grand Prix de Paris, French Derby, French Oaks, Melbourne Cup and other important events of the turf in foreign lands. No other publication in the world carries all this information. : : : : :

AMONG OTHER FEATURES IT HAS
